Volume 20, No 6 — June 2024

June 25, 2024 — 6 pm Jennie Burden & Becky Lance — Presidents-of-the-Month Annual Picnic

Deluxe Nacho Bar

We will provide all the ingredients for a do-it-yourself loaded nacho plate. There will be ground beef, cheese, beans, sour cream, tomatoes, and everything you can think of to pile on a plate of nacho chips. We will supply plates, plasticware, napkins and water. Members are asked to bring a dessert or fruit to share.

The theme of the meeting will be "Everyone Starts Somewhere." We'd like to have members bring their first quilting effort to share with the group, no matter how cringe-worthy you may now consider your earliest effort to be. We'll be sharing stories about what started us on our quilting journeys, mistakes we've made, lessons learned, and the progress we've achieved.

Log Cabin Day — June 25

Log Cabin Day, a June 28 holiday, brings you back to a quieter, simpler, more rugged era. A couple of hundred years ago, life was far more rugged. Americans moving West (west at the time may have been Ohio or Tennessee) found an untouched wilderness, filled with pristine forests. They built their homes out of logs from the plentiful and majestic forests. This rugged frontier lodgings, inns, and meeting places were solid, long-lasting, and served them well.

Life was rustic and simple. Heat was provided by an open fireplace, where they also cooked their meals. Need air conditioning in the summer? Just open the window (there wasn't any glass or screening). There was no electricity (no television, stereos or boom boxes blasting, or computers). And, plumbing? Just look back towards the woods at the outhouse. The path to it is well-worn.

This holiday celebrates what was then the "Modern" home in America, and all of the lifestyle that accompanied it. Today is a day to appreciate the history and significance of log cabins. Visit them at historical museums today, or sometime this summer.

Seven early U.S. Presidents were born in log cabins. They are:

- Andrew Jackson
- Zachary Taylor
- Millard Fillmore
- James Buchanan
- Abraham Lincoln
- Ulysses S. Grant
- James Garfield
