Hello Secret Sisters,

I don't know about you, but I am having lots of fun thinking of things to make for my "sister" and then making them. I just wanted to remind you that we started this group because a lot of us make nice things for others that don't quilt, but don't ever get anything homemade ourselves. You don't need to sew something every month, but please try to make something special at least a third of the time.

Happy quilting!

National Hammock Day — July 22

Summer is in full swing. It's time to slow down and relax. Hammock Day exists to celebrate and enjoy summer as it should be enjoyed. People celebrate this day by spending as much time relaxing on it as possible. There's a wide variety of hammocks. Most notably, single and double hammocks. The doubles exist so you can lounge today with someone special. Getting out of your hammock to get a snack, or your favorite summer beverage is okay. But, it is not a day for work. Cutting the lawn is forbidden on this holiday. However, it's the perfect place to watch someone else cut the lawn.

Here is some fascinating trivia and fun facts to share with your family and friends:

- According to the Guinness World Book of Records, the world's largest hammock measures 2,113.05 ft<sup>2</sup>. It was made by King Digital Entertainment (UK) and presented in New York, New York September 2, 2015. The bed measures 68 feet 4 inches long and 30 feet 10 inches wide. You could have a big party on it!
- The Mayans invented the hammock.
- Mayans fashioned hammocks out of the Hammack tree. Obviously, the name was derived from this tree.
- Hammack trees are native to Latin America.
- Christopher Columbus brought them back to Europe.
- English sailors were the first to use them on ships.
- Sleeping in one promotes better spinal alignment, resulting in less back pain and discomfort. The swaying motion results in a deep and more relaxing sleep than a conventional bed.
- The most expensive one in the world is the Petiole hammock. It is manufactured in Sweden. And, it costs a mere $35,000.
